WM. H. BENNEGEN.

if the session does not begin until December, 1875, as that month "can be very easily frittered away," the Times says :

"This arrangement may be very satisfactory to Democratic leaders, but is it a desirable one for the country! If the Democrats have a better policy to produce than that which the Bepublicans have than that which the Bepublicans have offered the country, why not give them an early opportunity of teiling us what it is? The new Congress should meet as soon after the close of the forthcoming session as possible, and provision can be made for that. Let the Democratic bedieves the country of the interests of the people at large."

Delay ought not to be satisfactory to Democratic leaders anxious to serve the country, or even to those who are anxious to serve only their party—unless, indeed.

The publicar considered, the cheepests, and has become ellmast indispensable to every person or samily desiring a satisfactory compendium to the neworthy in the literary world. THE doctrine of "impersonal journalism," never got much of a grip, so to weekly numbers are sent gratis. speak, on the newspaper offices of Cincinnati. Occasionally some fellow connected with one of the papers there gets up an editorial article in the stilled round about style so much affected by The Nation and other exponents of tone, but as a rule other practices prevail. For instance the editor of the Knquirer the other day presented the assurances of his distinguish ed consideration to his brother of the Commercial in the following plain unvar-

"To all intents and purposes, Mr. Hal to an intents and purposes, in: Haistead is a their, as he certainly is a liar.

He blackmails the people into supporting his concern though threats of a use of the columns of the Commercial against them; and visits his wrath upon those who besto w their friend ship or patronsge upon his rivals."

In many places such language would be deemed libelous; but as Mr. Halstead has the reputation of being pretty thick skinned, it is not likely that he will compel his assailant to prove his charges before a court of justice. He will, on the other hand, be much more apt to retort in phraseology quite as vigorous and personal. He may even do worse than this. He may publish a card, signed with his name and dated with a date. He is somewhat given to cards

THE farmers of the States west of the W Alleghenies, who usually find so much Tr to complain of in the weather, bugs frosts, state of the markets and the grinding onopolies, will not fail to see that they hold the long end of the rope this year. While the manufacturers in the Eastern and Middle States are sbutting down their mills, and mechanics and operatives of every class are looking anxiously forward to the dull, idle days of the winter, the farmers are in comparative clover It is estimated that the ten northwestern States are receiving this fall and winter one hundred and fifty millions of dollars for their grain, hay, meats, fruit and other marketable farm products. This vastsum of money has put the farmers into comparatively easy circumstances Their expenditures have in turn stimulated business in other channels so tha the general business prosperity of Chicago and other Western cities is far in advance of that in the East. In fact the grain and pork reports of Chicago form he most cheering chapter now to be found in business intelligence. The larmers can congratulate themselves that they are shadowed in a less degree than any other class by the dullness of this are the statement of farmers can congratulate themselves that

THE complete success of the caucus system is the only possibility for the re-election of four United States Senators. They are all Republicans—Hamlin in Maine, Chandler in Michigan, Carrennesota. In each case, if the members of the Legislature were permitted to vote for whomsoever they pleased, the present incumbent would be easily deleated. If all the Republican members in either Legislature consent to obey the caucus com mand, the present Senator will probably squeeza in again by a very small vote. It needs no argument to show that the popu lar will can be best obeyed by voting for candidates in open session, without any caucus limitations. The caucus is the last refuge of politicians without popular support, and ought to have been abolished long ago. A few men with back bones can end its baleful course very summarily It looks in nearly all of the States named as if there were men waiting to seize so good an opportunity.

INTEREST ON NOTES OF HAND.—The Doyle & Fendt's, Philadelphia Ledger, good authority, says that a note payable on demand does not draw interest, unless interest is promised on its face, until after payment thereof has been demanded and refused. The more recent decisions make a distinction between notes payable on demand "with interest" and without interest. The former has been decided to be "a continuing security," good at any time within the statute of limitation against both drawer and endorser; the latter is not a continuing security, and to hold the endorser must be presented like a check, as soon as the next day after the holder receives the same. A demand note in which there is no promise of interest does not carry in-terest until payment has been demanded.

GOVERNOR HENDRICKS, of Indiana comprehends the situation. In a late letter addressed to some St. Louis Democrats, he says: "Although the political change has extended over the whole country, and appears very positive, yet a reaction will surely set in if we disappoint the people in their just expectations. To make our success permanent we must observe moderation and wisdom. The Republican party cannot destroy to the To make our success permanent we must observe moderation and wisdom. The Republican party cannot destroy us, but we can destroy ourselves." As the thought of the best informed Democratic statesman of the Union, this is worthy of note. Still, Hendricks may be swamped.
